

Mademoiselle is the Chef

Yoko Matsuo

Table of Contents (目次)

The First Movement: the Road to Besançon

My Meeting with Professor Dervaux

Departure

Letter

The City of Paris

Surrounded by Wonderful Friends

Letters

Life as Parisienne Began

Letters

Episode

École Normale

Letters

Seiji Ozawa in Paris

Letter

My Parents Visiting Paris

Christmas Mass

Carmen

Another Carmen

Letters

Visiting Provence, South France

Letter

Visit to Italy

Letter

Visiting Berlin, the Music City

Letter

No Woman for 1st Winner?

Letters

Riccardo Muti, the Conductor

Letters

Workshop at Salzburg, Part I

Letters

Workshop at Salzburg, Part II

Letter

Workshop at Salzburg, Part III

Letter

The Besançon Competition, Part I

Letter

The Besançon Competition, Part II

Letter

The Second Movement

My Birth

Crybaby Girl

Awakening to Classical Music

My High School Days and then University

Encounter with Michel Polnareff

Tricked by Fate

Apprentice in Conducting

Entrance Exam for Tokyo University of the Arts

Wonderful Musician Friends

Moving

Art Festival

Audition for Gunma Symphony Orchestra

Dream to Study Abroad

The Third Movement

Returning from the Dream Country

My Debut Concert

Mediterranean Concert on the Sea

Salzburg, Brussels and Vienna

Opera, the Performing Art

Ashiya Symphony Orchestra

Woman of Passion on the Conductor Stand

Japanese Woman who is exceptionally “European”

Wine and I

Concert for Mutual Touch

Dress to Wear

Rain Chases After Me

My Relationship with Beethoven’s Choral

Teaching

Painting

Katsuzo Entsuba, Master Sculptor

Warmhearted Encouragement

Fun Friends

Nerima, My City

Mademoiselle is the Chef